Happy New Year

This weekend, being the First Sunday of Advent, we begin a new liturgical year; which prepares us for the coming of the Savior of the World. As for the liturgy, we can say that we have entered Cycle B; where we will be listening very often to the Gospel of Saint Mark, and during the week, we will listen to the readings of the odd year or year II.

Mark: is symbolized by a lion, because his gospel begins with the preaching of John the Baptist in the desert, where there were wild animals. His gospel was the first to be written; it is said that it was more or less in the decade of the 60 or 70 after Christ, and served as a text of catechesis for those who were preparing to receive baptism. It is the shortest gospel and the fact that it begins by presenting John the Baptist in the desert is very important. For the people of the Bible, the desert represented, among other things, the place where new projects are forged. This is what the people of God did when they came out of the bondage of Egypt. John the Baptist makes himself known in the desert, which shows that he is preparing the people for the great novelty that Jesus' life and liberation practices suppose. Starting from Am 3,8, we can affirm that the voice of the lion symbolizes the voice of the prophets who denounce the violation of God's plans Ap 10,3. Therefore, John the Baptist is the prophet who denounces injustice and points to the novelty that Jesus will bring.

Mark does not have stories of Jesus' childhood as Matthew and Luke do. Mark begins with Jesus as an adult, close to John the Baptist and witness of the kingdom of God. It has the support of a Christian community with his literary school; the place of composition is disputed by Rome, Alexandria and Damascus in Syria. Today the last city takes a lot of strength where there was the very first Christian community.

Feliz Año Nuevo

Durante este fin de semana en la Iglesia católica damos inicio a un nuevo Año Litúrgico. Lo iniciamos con el Tiempo de Adviento, el cual nos prepara para la venida del Salvador del Mundo. En cuanto a la liturgia, podemos decir, que entramos en el Ciclo B; donde estaremos escuchando muy a menudo el Evangelio de san Marcos, y durante la semana, escucharemos las lecturas del año impar o año II.

Marcos se simboliza con un león, porque su evangelio comienza con la predicación del Bautista en el desierto, donde había animales salvajes. Su evangelio fue el primero en escribirse; se dice que fue más o menos en la década de los 60 o 70 después de Cristo, y sirvió como texto de catequesis para los que se preparaban para recibir el bautismo. Es el evangelio más corto y el hecho de que comience presentando a Juan Bautista en el desierto es muy importante. Para el pueblo de la Biblia, el desierto representaba, entre otras cosas, el lugar donde se fraguan los nuevos proyectos. Esto es lo que hizo el pueblo de Dios cuando salió de la esclavitud de Egipto. Juan Bautista se da a conocer en el desierto, lo que pone de manifiesto que está preparando al pueblo para la gran novedad que supone la vida y las prácticas de liberación de Jesús. Partiendo de Am 3,8, podemos afirmar que la voz del león simboliza la voz de los profetas que denuncian la violación de los planes de Dios Ap 10,3. Por tanto, Juan Bautista es el profeta que denuncia la injusticia y que apunta a la novedad que aportará Jesús.

San Marcos, no posee relatos de la Infancia de Jesús como lo hacen Mateo y Lucas. Marcos comienza con un Jesús adulto, cercano a Juan el Bautista y testigo del reino de Dios, su autor tiene el respaldo de una comunidad cristiana con su escuela literaria; el lugar de composición se lo disputan Roma, Alejandría y Damasco en Siria; hoy toma muchísima fuerza esta última ciudad donde hubo una primerísima comunidad cristiana.
